TAKING US FROM the Fjord of Eternity to the streets of St. John's and the swamps of Orlando, the stories in this collection show us the timeless, the tragic, and the miraculous hidden in the underbelly of our everyday lives. A missing rock god may have jumped a cruise ship — in the Arctic. A grieving young woman may live next to a serial rapist. A man's last day on earth replays in the minds of others in a furiously sensual, heartrending fugue. Something for Everyone finds Moore fired with peak ambition — she seems bent on nothing less than rewiring the circuitry of the short story itself.

LISA MOORE is the acclaimed author of the novels Caught, February, and Alligator. Caught is now a major CBC television series starring Allan Hawco. February was longlisted for the Man Booker Prize, and was named a New Yorker Best Book of the Year and a Globe and Mail Top 100 Book. Alligator won the Commonwealth Writers' Prize (Canada and the Caribbean) and was a national bestseller. SET IN LESSER known parts of Los Angeles, Chicken uproariously, grievously, relates the collision and inevitably ruinous paths of two incendiary figures. One is the once beautiful and famous Parnell Wilde, a maverick actor arrogant in his orgiastic fall. The two are profoundly altered by their meeting and manage to wrest each other, however briefly, from their dizzying spirals of decline. But when Parnell is offered the chance to perform in the sequel to Ultraviolence, the feature film that made him famous, and to work again with its brilliant but merciless director, he and Annabel are forced to confront their demons as the extreme and fleeting world of fame threatens to divide them.

JEROME LUPIEN — libidinous, unscrupulous, and fresh out of university — is ambitious and at loose ends. Whether on a hunting trip into Québec's northern woods, on an escape to Cuba, or seeking to make his way in Montreal, Jerome cannot help but be embroiled in misadventures and underworld escapades. He is conned by the devious — a hunting guide, a low-life car salesman, and a well-to-do political lobbyist profiting from the city's infamous partnership of corrupt politicians and construction firms on the make. The unwitting (though frequently culpable) Jerome is enrolled, whether he knows it or not, in an unconventional and criminal school. And the education is singular, not only for Jerome, but also the reader. The young man's heady journey provides an extraordinary, full, and trenchant portrait of Québec and the city of Montreal in all its topographical and class variety.

YVES BEAUCHEMIN is a mordant social satirist and one of the most pre-eminent Québécois writers of his generation. His novels include Charles the Bold, The Waitress of the Café Chéri, and The Alley Cat, which is the bestselling French-Canadian novel of all time. ON A COOL morning in the winter of 2011, Dennis Cronin was surveying a stand of old-growth forest for clear-cutting on Vancouver Island. Deep within the forest, Cronin encountered a massive Douglas-fir over twenty storeys high. Instinctively, he tied a flag around the trunk, bearing the words “Leave Tree.” When the fallers arrived, every tree in the area was cut down and hauled away — all except one. The solitary Douglas-fir, soon known as Big Lonely Doug, controversially became the symbol of the Tall Tree Capital of Canada, attracting thousands of tourists every year and garnering the attention of artists, businesses, and organizations.

In Big Lonely Doug, Harley Rustad weaves the ecology of old-growth forests, the legend of the West Coast's big trees, the turbulence of the logging industry, the fight for preservation, the contention surrounding ecotourism, First Nations land and resource rights, and the fraught future of these ancient forests around the story of a logger who saved one of Canada's last great trees.

Trump’s disruption of politics as usual is what America needs to start the process of restoring democracy by the people, for the people.

The twenty-first semi-annual Munk Debate, held on October 12th, 2017, pits award-winning journalist E. J. DIONNE JR. and influential author and blogger ANDREW SULLIVAN against former Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives NEWT GINGRICH and bestselling author and editor KIMBERLEY STRASSEL to debate the current crisis of American democracy.

HAVING TWICE COME within a final breath of death, Detective Superintendent MacNeice has been ordered to attend sessions with the department psychiatrist to determine if he’s suffering from PTSD. Whether or not MacNeice is “healthy,” he’s called to a crime scene in Dundurn’s old-money neighbourhood under the mountain. In the master bedroom of a mansion on Amelia Street are two bodies. Howard Terry and his son Matthew have both been shot twice in the chest. Under Matthew’s body is a doll with blood-red cotton wadding spilling out of its head. Nearby, a female mannequin in a nightshirt lies on its back with two bullet holes in the chest.

On the other side of town, a body is discovered below the Devil’s Punch Bowl waterfall. Leaning against an enormous rock is a man in a cotton nightshirt wearing a papier mâché donkey’s head. Two rounds in the chest. Something about the way the bodies have been arranged triggers a memory in MacNeice of an image he saw years before . . .

HONG KONG, 1969. The Dragon Head of the Fanling Triad has died and there is a struggle to replace him among senior members of the gang. Normally, the Deputy Mountain Master is next in line, but this one is weak and ineffectual and has only survived because of the protection of the Dragon Head. Up to this point, the Fanling Triad has operated in relative isolation from neighbouring gangs, but the Dragon Head's death has drawn attention to the area — and to its wealth.

Other gangs start to make threatening moves, and it's obvious to the senior members of the Fanling gang that they need a leader who can fend off the threats, unite the membership, and maintain their prosperity. There are several candidates. The least conspicuous is the White Paper Fan, their young administrator. His name is Chow Tung, but many of those who work with him already refer to him as “Uncle” . . .

IAN HAMILTON is the author of twelve novels in the Ava Lee series. His books have been shortlisted for numerous prizes, including the Arthur Ellis Award, the Barry Award, and the Lambda Literary Award, and are national bestsellers. In Honest Weight: Straight Talk from the Seafood Counter, John Bil pulls back the curtain on the fish business to give seafood lovers the information and confidence they need to make smart decisions about the fish they consume. Why does halibut cost what it does? Were those shrimp responsibly farmed? How do you clean an octopus? And what's the best way to prepare those delicious clams when you get them home?

Perfect for beginners and experts alike, Honest Weight makes sense of the seemingly endless options at the fish counter. Organized by size, beginning with shellfish (clams, oysters, lobster), small fish (anchovies, mackerel, herring), medium fish (trout, cod, catfish), and large fish (halibut, salmon, tuna), Honest Weight features over fifty easy-to-follow recipes accompanied by mouth-watering, full-colour photography that will have you racing down to your local fish counter.

JOHN BIL (1968–2018) worked with fish — on the water, behind the counter, and in the kitchen — for over twenty-five years. A respected and in-demand seafood expert, Bil assisted with the openings of several high-profile restaurants, including M. Wells Steakhouse (New York), Claddagh Oyster House (Charlottetown, PEI), and Restaurant Joe Beef (Montreal). In 2015, Bil opened Honest Weight, a hybrid fish shop / lunch counter in Toronto's Junction neighbourhood that serves responsibly sourced seafood from North America and beyond.

Power Politics first appeared in 1971, startling its audience with its vital dance of woman and man. It still startles, and is just as iconoclastic as ever. These poems occupy all at once the intimate, the political, and the mythic. Here Atwood makes us realize that we may think our own personal dichotomies are unique, but really they are multiple, universal.
